Back to Bosnia – (UK Premiere)

Bosnia, USA 2005. Dir Sabina Vajraca. 70min EST. Age 12.

This documentary is about a family who returns to post-war Bosnia, in order to reclaim their stolen property. While there, the family is confronted with the destruction of their city and forced to examine the community they left behind. They stumble upon an exhumation, visit the sites of war crimes, and seek out the remnants of a city they once called their own. The film portrays Sabina Vajraca as she probes into the history of the war and her own family's involvement. Accompanied by a small film crew, she embarks on a path of discovery, guided by the stories of her parents and those they meet along the way.

Characters, a Collection of Short Documentaries

Rootical

UK 2006 Dir. Nike Hatzidimou 25 min. Film-maker present at screening

This is the story of Charlie Phillips, an Afro Caribbean photographer who documented the social implications of immigration in the 1950's and 1960's in Notting Hill.

Charlie has experienced much ignorance with regards to the importance of his work. The working class seems to be excluded from the art world. In discussion with Benjamin Zephaniah and the curator of the museum of London, they get to the bottom of that issue.

Winner "Best First Film" Portobello Film Festival

The Sea Front

UK 2006. Dir Anton Califano. 6 min. Film-maker present at screening

Two meditative portraits of contemporary British life at the seaside. Penpa had never seen the sea before coming to the UK as an asylum seeker from Tibet. He was surprised to find that the sea was so salty. Syed, originally from Bangladesh, loves the sea and dreams of owning a boat for him and his family.

Against the light: (UK Premiere)

UK/Czech Republic. 2007 Dir. Koutaiba Al-Janabi. 15min. Film-maker present at screening

A silent documentary, it is an experimental film, art film about art, presenting its subject with visual tools rather than words. The film shows the work of Mahmoud Sabri, and artist who invented the idea of Quantum Realism, exploring the world as an ongoing process. For Mahmoud Sabri, the future of Art IS Quantum Realism

Immigrant of Expression (UK premiere)

UK 2009 Dir David Caneva Akle 10 min. Film-maker present at screening

This intimate journey through Diana Garcia's life (a Colombian immigrant in the UK), reveals that work by helping others she can have personal rewards. This new generation of strong and dynamic individuals are more interested in contributing creatively to their community instead of being part of the consumerism of a capital city like London. The film is part of a trilogy where "Strong female immigrant minds" are portrayed to document what happens with minorities and young people in the South of London.

Journey of the Piano Tuner

UK. Dir. Danny Weinstein. 2007. 7.14min. Film-maker present at screening

An intimate, poetic documentary that tells the dramatic story of Anva Luc and the day that changed his life. Aged eight, Anva was wounded by an unexploded land mine in the North/South Vietnam war. In 1980 he fled his country and landed in Britain as one of the 'Vietnamese Boat People'. The experiences and feelings that Anva had as a child in Vietnam are still very much part of his identity and they have transplanted themselves into a new country and a different culture. Anva's life story is a testament to his resourcefulness, endeavor and resilience.

The Fortress (UK premiere)

Switzerland 2008. Dir Fernand Melgar 104min.

For the first time, a camera looks into the hidden world of a Swiss reception centre for asylum seekers and immerses us in the daily sorting process of the human diaspora. Awarding it the Golden Leopard, the Locarno festival jury cited 'a remarkably sensitive film exhibiting profound human intelligence. Discreetly and masterfully realised, but never voyeuristic, and with a message that is directly and evocatively conveyed.'

Guest film brought to Refuge in Films by Refugee Action.

13:30 BFI Studio
Landless Part I

The Life and other Building Yards

Italy 2007. Dir Giuseppe Schettino. 37min. (First award in the international Jordan film festival)

A sinti family of Bolzano was used to earn a living playing music, but since Laki, the only violinist of the group, has become an evangelist, it had to stop playing music. Trying to reunite the group, Radames the chief of the family, will experience how much the sinti traditions are changing. The documentary "The life and other building yards" is about conflicts between generations and cultures, between fathers and sons inside an ethnic reality that is disappearing.

Tebraa

El Aiuun – Saharawi Reugee Camps. 2007. Zanabu & Zaina Dir. Laura Alvea & Pilar Pinar/ Azuha Sah Dir. Maria Duran y Carmen R. Marzal /Aminethu Haidar Dir. Ana Rosa Diego. 15 min.

Those three films show the reality of the Saharan women. The Saharan people have an admirable capacity for resisting and fighting, but most of all it is their woman who have managed to live, by creating a solid organization beyond and despite their refugee status, in the hammada desert of Algeria.

The Betrayal (Nerakhoon)

USA 2008. Dir. Ellen Kuras & Thavisouk Phrasavath 96min.

During the Vietnam War, the US government waged a secret war in neighbouring Laos. When they withdrew, Laotian supporters of the Americans faced imprisonment or execution. One family, the Phrasavaths, decided to take refuge in America. In Brooklyn they faced another kind of war. Director Ellen Kuras (cinematographer of Eternal Sunshine of the Spotless Mind) and co-director Thavisouk Phrasaveth (eldest son of the refugee family portrayed) worked for 20 years to create this beautifully realized, complex film, which received an Oscar nomination for best documentary feature 2009. (Screening presented in partnership with Refugee Action)

Sun 21 June followed by a discussion lead by young people from RefgeeYouth and Nueva Generacion.
